EV® ADDS TO THE ATMOSPHERE AT DANISH CARNIVAL

Each year, the largest carnival in northern Europe takes place in Aalborg, Denmark at the end of May. This year, there were around 90,000 revellers. DBlux, who were responsible for the sound, put their faith in tools from EVI Audio, the European wing of Telex Communications, Inc.

Straubing, Germany (June 2004): Whilst in Catholic countries the carnival season is generally the week before Lent, in Scandinavia they put on their red noses at the end of May. This is certainly the case in Aalborg, Denmark, the scene of northern Europe's biggest carnival and a place of annual pilgrimage for children of all ages. This year's theme was 'Atlantis', and to make sure the music made a lasting impression rather than sinking without trace in a sea of spectators, the organizers of the mega event relied upon the skill and equipment of DBlux, with ASCON, the Danish EVI Audio partner, standing by with advice and equipment.

The DBlux team certainly had their work cut out that May weekend. Their commission was to provide the ideal sound system not only for the highly varied program of musical events but also to ensure perfect comprehensibility above the raucous revelry for the announcements, speeches of welcome and any urgent messages that might need to be conveyed. After consultation with ASCON, the DBlux technicians opted for a mixture of Dynacord® Cobra-4™, Electro-Voice® X-Array™, Delta-Max™ and QRx™ loudspeaker systems, with EV® amps and a variety of Midas® consoles rounding off a system in which there were no compromises whatsoever in terms of sound quality. And when the tide of visitors finally subsided and the aquavit ran dry, ASCON chief, Helge Stensballe was pleased to remember: "We had no technical problems the entire weekend, a thoroughly satisfied client and an enthusiastic response from the audiences. In short, the event was a total success."
