Cobalt™ and Today's Musician

In the various music scenes across the U.S., as well as the world, it's become more difficult to "make it." There's more music out there, and more of it is refined, well rehearsed, and cleverly marketed. So how does one "make it"? Get some good gear. Play gigs. Play more gigs. And record. As you progress as a performer, so will your demands for better gear. A good start is with the right microphones – microphones that won't force you into university pharmaceutical testing to afford. Remember, you only sound as good as the microphone you're singing through. Whether you're looking for the natural sound of your own voice or are tweaking it with the numerous effects that characterize much of today's vocals, the Cobalt™ Series is for YOU.

Cobalt™ Advantages

Accurate Sound.

Dependable "Real World" Performance.

Regardless of the kind of music you're playing, the size of the room, and how much your fans love you, ultimately it all comes down to the microphone. And you only sound as good as the microphone you're singing through. Want a mic that performs in the lab but fails onstage? Of course not. With EV Cobalt™ you are assured clean, clear sound from lows to highs.

Choices

Get the mic that suits your demands. From the crystal clear, incredible world tour vocal intelligibility of the Co9 to the exceptional bass response and precision-controlled proximity effect of the Co5, EV has you in mind. Step between the two for amazing feedback control with the Co7. Enter the world of hassle free sound today!

Affordability

The Cobalt™ line was designed with musicians in mind. Neodymium technology and cool aesthetics blended together at a price that will keep you out of the blood bank. Now you can get high-end performance at unbelievable prices!
